HEADMASTER'S NEWSLETTER 24 JUNE 2011

Dear All

Another busy term draws to an end.

Our sports teams travelled to far places and competed with pride and passion. As you are aware, our senior teams are rather young this year. Well done to them all, because we reached the Limpopo play-offs with all our first teams, except for the Netball, where nevertheless, there is constant improvement. Some of our junior teams have also been involved in the play-offs.

The Culture slot that we introduced during this term proved to be very successful. Students signed up in large numbers for the wide variety of activities that we offer after school from Monday to Thursday. A very successful musical culture camp took place at Babanango and Sabie under the leadership of Mr Mhunduru.

Staff members have completed their marking and the reports will be handed out after assembly today. All in all, these are satisfactory, especially in the light of the very limited teaching time we have had due to the all the interruptions caused by the public holidays.

We have started with the building of the last classroom cluster. During the latter stages of the year, we will start with the conversion of the Adventure Centre into an indoor sports facility.

We would also like to thank Mrs. Sarah-Jane Olivier for her excellent all-round contribution to the College over the past few years. Sarah-Jane and her husband, Barend, are relocating to Johannesburg at the end of this term. Miss Morag Rennie will take over her English classes. With her Master's Degree in Languages from Oxford University and her flair for the classroom, Morag is a worthy replacement for Mrs. Olivier.

I would like to inform you that Mr. James Quibell has accepted the position of Dean of Pastoral Care at Hilton College in KZN. This is a good achievement at one of the most prestigious boys' schools in our country. James and his family will move to KZN in December.

During the coming holiday our cricket team will prepare for the next season. A number of students will also go on the cultural trip to Turkey with Mrs Freestone and Mrs Park. Students should enjoy this holiday and time away from school, and spend quality time with their parents.

Our staff has been stretched this term and will enjoy this well deserved holiday.

See you all back at the College when lessons resume on Tuesday, 19 July.

Kind regards

Johann Ueckermann
